Call for Chapters Teacher Education in 21st Century

Aims and Scope:

The evolution and innovation in teacher education in the twenty-first century are examined in this book. It talks about pedagogical improvements that emphasize technology-enabled learning and self-directed inquiry, enhanced theory-practice ties, better teaching techniques through school partnerships, and curriculum updates that are in line with emerging competences. It also talks about how the Teacher Education for the 21st Century was developed in India and in other countries and put into practice with particular emphasis on India's National Educational Policy 2020. One of the main objectives of teacher education is the creation of professional leaders in the field of education who are empowered researchers and proactive problem-solvers. It necessitates a long-term perspective on learning and an original growth plan. It requires a long-term outlook on education and a cutting-edge methodology to provide teachers with the design expertise and inquisitive attitude necessary to comprehend learners in the rapidly evolving digital and mobile world. The target audience for this book includes academics, researchers, policymakers, teacher educators, research scholars, Post graduate students of education, B.Ed. and M.Ed. professional students and school teachers.
